Average spot power price falls 4% to ₹2.73 per unit at IEX in Nov

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi, December 7... THE AVERAGE SPOT power price dropped by 4% to ₹2.73 per unit in November compared to the year-ago period at the Indian Energy Exchange.

in November. The DAM market continued to see high sell-side liquidity with total sell bids at 9,778 MU being twice that of the cleared volume (sales). This enabled the market to maintain an attractive average market clearing price at ₹2.73 per unit during November, a 4% y-o-y decline over the price of ₹2.85 during the same period last year, the Indian Energy Exchange (IEX) said in a statement.

Further, IEX traded electricity volume of 6,164 MU in November 2020 registered a 61% y-o-y growth.

INTERVIEW: N VIJAYAGOPAL, director-finance, BPCL

'Our throughput at pre-Covid levels'

State-run oil refiner BPCL's throughput has reached 100% of the pre-Covid levels backed by higher demand during festive season and is likely to sustain, given that the impact of Covid-19 has abated and the oil sector is back to near normal.

What is the level of throughput at your refineries right now? We have reached the pre-covid level as far as refining throughput is concerned, buoyed by the pickup in demand for petrol and diesel during the festive season.

Going ahead, we believe this level of production will be sustained. However, pricing is a concern and we will have to contend with an impact on profitability due to Covid-19.

Is there any improvement in gross refining margins (GRM) in the third quarter? The refining margins are still subdued due to lower price differential between the refined products and crude oil.

However, our GRMs are slightly higher than the Singapore GRM as they are a MS (Motor Spirit) based economy. The MS margins are comparatively lower than diesel margins, so we will have directionally better GRM than them. The normalised margins for diesel should be around $15 and for MS it should be $12 but it has dropped to $2 for MS and $3 for diesel, which is abnormally low.

How do you explain the rise in petroleum product prices? The Indian petroleum prices are high because of higher excise duty which also has a cascading effect on state sales tax.

BPCL had initially planned to reduce the capex for FY21, what is the current status on that? We had estimated a capital expenditure of ₹7,700 crore during the current fiscal. However, we are expecting to have a capex of ₹8,500 crore this year, which is higher than projected.

What is BPCL's inventory position during the quarter? Inventories are slightly higher on the marketing side but otherwise are manageable. Unless the prices drop in the next 23 days - which is unlikely - we do not expect major deviation in inventories in the near future.
